As creative writers, we will design our own world and write story openings full of description based on these. We will take inspiration from the diary of Anne Frank and use this information to write our own diary entries.

As geographers, we will discuss which countries were involved in the War. We will also map how land has changed over time during and after the war.

As artists, we will be making silhouette pictures based on the Blitz.

As historians, we will look at significant events which happened in WW2 and create timelines. We will also investigate the use of propaganda in WW2 and how it influenced public opinion.
