Have a look at the comparison pictures.

What similarities and differences can you spot?

Does the past image look how you'd thought it would look? Why?

On the next slide, there is half of the old image. Please print it out and then on the other side, draw what Bagshot looks like now.

Print or draw what Bagshot looked like in the past. On the other side (where the red line is) draw the rest of Bagshot but draw what it looks like today. Below is a picture to help you.

Wednesday and Thursday

Design an ideal town

You need to design an ideal town:

- Think about providing facilities for all the population e.g.
  - Elderly people
  - Children
  - Teenagers
  - Young adults
  - Parents

- Features you might want to include:
  - Roads and paths
  - Park
  - Water features e.g. river, pond, lake
  - Bridges
  - Religious buildings e.g. church, mosque, synagogue
  - Schools
  - Shops
  - Leisure facilities e.g. swimming pool, gym, hotel, museums, cinema

Use:

- SYMBOLS to show where your features are
- A KEY to show what your symbols mean

- Watch the clip below to learn about the key features of town, villages and cities.

https://www.bbc.co.uk/teach/class-clips-video/geography-ks1--ks2-cities-towns-villages/zjn492p

- Have a think about what you would include in your ideal town/village. Remember, you have a wide range of people living in your town/village so it has to cater for everyone!
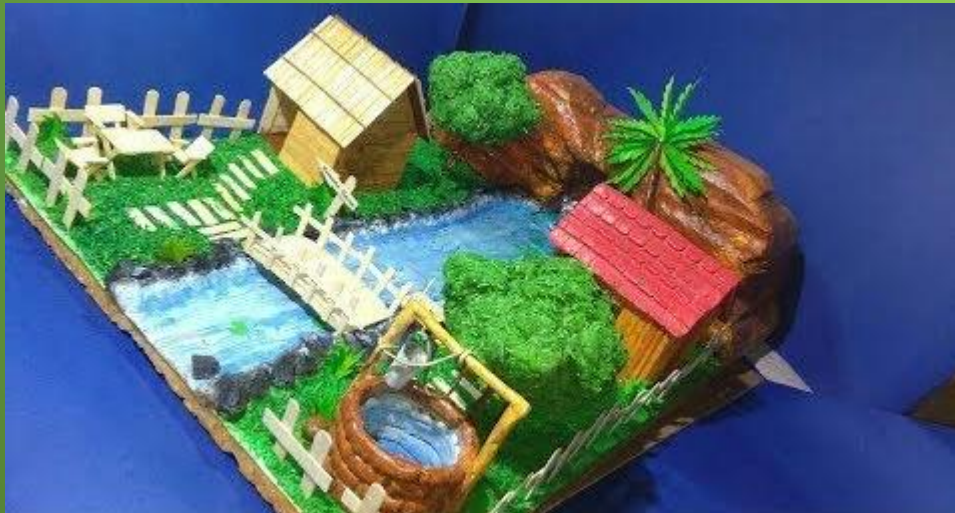

- First, draw a map of what your town/village would look like. Try to include lots of detail and use a key!

- Once you have drawn your map, think of a way to create your village into a 3-D model! Could you head outside and use sticks/twigs/stones or could you use cardboard/lego to recreate your ideal village?

- Remember to consider different proportions… your row of houses will not be the same height as the block of flats for example!

Friday

- Design a coat of arms for your town/village. Think about what you might like to include to showcase what is special in your town/village.

Bagshot's Coat of Arms - Origin/meaning
The arms were officially granted on July 20, 1960.
The gold and white background is from the arms of Chertsey Abbey, which owned and is connected with the history of much of the district, Bagshot was included in a grant to the Abbey as early as 933. The stag's head refers to Bagshot Park, a royal demesne since Norman times and hunting ground of the Stuart kings, and also to the fact that much of the area was was formerly part of Windsor Forest. The grenade refers to the area's military associations, in particular the former military camp at Chobham and the lion recalls the area's royal links.
The fir cones and mound of heathland refers to Bagshot Heath, and the falcon is derived from the supporters of the Earls of Onslow.

What is a coat of arms?

- A coat of arms is a unique design painted on a shield. These designs may be inherited, meaning that they pass from a father to his children. In the Middle Ages, these designs were shown on real shields, but today they are usually only drawn or painted on the paper that makes them legal which is called a grant of arms. The grant of arms is usually allowed only when it is given by the government of a country or its agent. In England, this is called the College of Arms and in Scotland is called the Lord Lyon.

- Coats of arms are normally issued for real people but nowadays lots of countries and businesses also have coats of arms. Each symbol on the coat of arms will represent something that has an important meaning to that person, country or company.
